

BHQG 2017-2018 Programs

- September: Loading up the train and getting the show on the road. Our re-organizational meeting.
- October: Tight-rope walker Nina Clotfelter from Alabama. Nina performs a lecture "How did I get here?" high above a packed crowd and then the next day she teaches us her death defying tricks of "beginning free motion quilting". (See page 5)
- November: Jess Jones, from GSU, opens the doors to The Fun House. Jess uses weird and unusual things in her quilts. Her program is titled "interesting directions in quilting and quilts in academics."
- December: We're heading down the Midway on a wild ride with the party committee.
- January: The great and mighty magician, Molly Elkin, works her spells in a program and workshop both dabbling in the mystical "Color and Value. "
- February: The lion tamer, Gyleen Fitzgerald, will help you get your scraps under control. Her lecture is called "It's a Polygon Affair" and she follows that up with a workshop "Trash to Treasure" (a pineapple quilt). Grab your chair and a whip.
- March: Send in the clowns! Muriel Pfaff dresses up in costume to portray "Eliza Pickney." She might be throwing cream pies.
- April: It's the dog and pony show with Ginny Greaves. Her lecture "Journey of a Southern Quilter" and her workshop "animal portraits " will trot us through all of her latest tricks.
- May: Veronica Ortega is the Cotton Candy vendor. Veronica's lecture "From the Field to Fabric" sounds mouthwatering.
- June: The fat lady sings as our year comes to an end. It's our Birthday Party!
